City of Portland
Portland Disability Advisory Committee Meeting Minutes
March 6, 2019

Mandy Levine, Portland's Workforce Diversity and Inclusion Specialist, convened the meeting of the Portland Disability Advisory Committee (PDAC).

- In attendance: Haley Pass, Lisette Belanger, Kayla Moore, Michelle Ames, John LeMieux, Bud Buzzell, Yura Yasui, Ken Shapiro, Certified Interpreting ASL interpreter, Mike Conkright, Alizah Brandwein, Karen McPhee
- Board members not in attendance: Jessica Russell, Derek O'Brien, Steve Leighton
- February 6, 2019 meeting minutes were approved.
- Thank you gift for Tom Handel of Portland Media Center: Mandy shared that she and Derek O'Brien had the pleasure of surprising Tom Handel with a gift bag to express our tremendous gratitude for his creation of the Public Service Announcements.
- Guest speakers from Greater Portland Transit METRO: Glenn Fenton, Chief Transportation Officer and Kristy Hostetter, METRO Consultant

METRO joined us to unveil and seek PDAC's feedback on their proposed fare pricing changes and new automatic fare payment options. As described in detail in the attached flyer METRO provided, Metro is seeking public input at several public meetings on several proposed fare policy changes.

These proposed fare changes include:

- Introduction of Automated Fare Technology;
- Replacement of paper-based passes and tickets with Smart Cards and Mobile App fare payment options;
- Introduction of reduced fare monthly option for seniors (65+), persons and disabilities, and youth (ages 6-18);

- Introduction of “fare capping” with Smart Card or Mobile App – fare capping is a “pay as you go” approach that provides a multi-ride discounted pass without having to pay up front costs. Riders only pay for what they use. Go to gpmetro.org to view a video about fare capping;
- Proposed fare increases: the current full fare is $1.50 (75 cents for reduced fare). The proposed new fare will be $2 for full fare and $1 reduced fare.
- Riders will never pay more than $6/day or $60/month;
- Transfers will be replaced with a 90-minute pass that provides unlimited trips for 90 minutes;
- A day cap: any ride after 3 rides per day is free.
- Cash will continue to be accepted as a fare payment option but will be the most expensive process.

Please see the attached METRO flyer for explanations of the proposed technology; public meeting dates and locations; and more. After receiving public feedback on the proposed fare pricing change in March, a recommendation will be brought to the METRO Board of Directors in approximately April. METRO would like to come back to speak with PDAC this summer with the final plan, which is expected to launch at the end of August /early September 2019.

In anticipation of these changes, METRO surveyed their riders; 40% of survey respondents self-identified as reduced fare eligible and 14% self-identified as persons with disabilities. An unresolved issue is companion passes for disabled individuals. METRO could potentially give out tokens to social service organizations and other companions.

- Speaker series update: Mandy shared hard copies of the flyer invitation to the speaker series and encouraged attendees to share information about the presentations with their contacts. More information about the events can be found on PDAC’s Facebook page (<https://www.portlandmaine.gov/1547/Portland-Disability-Advisory-Committee>) and webpage, <https://www.portlandmaine.gov/1547/Portland-Disability-Advisory-Committee>.
- Seeking PDAC Committee members to provide input on Riverton playground: Karen McPhee from the Parks, Recreation and Facilities department shared that the department has $250,000 devoted to designing a new playground at Riverton and she is looking for a few Committee members to provide input on the plans. Interested members can contact her directly at kbm@portlandmaine.gov.
